Local officers in the background are among 31 lawmen enrolled in the 13-week courses held each Tuesday with sessions at 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. each day. The dual estions allow police officers on any work shift to attend one of the two each week. The program is sponsored by the Southwestern Illinois Law Enforcement Commission and is offered by Lewis and Clark Community College.

'Grumpy' Keeps racing crown

Bill "Grumpy" Jenkins, win-ner of almost every major drag race event across the country last year in the pro-stock ranks, proved last night at St. Louis international Raceway that he still is "king of the pro-stock-ers"

Jenkins' Vega downed the Pinto pro-stocker of Wayne Gapp of Detroit, Mich., the Gapp and Roush car, in three consecutive runs.

The fastest quarter-mile run
was 9.47 seconds in the Vega with a terminal speed of 155 miles per hour. Gapp's car also stayed in the mid-nine second brackets, in the three close races.

In addition to the Jenkins-Gapp battle, eliminations also were conducted between nine area pro-stocks.

wish the grads good luck

Very Quickly.

No quibbling. No stalling or double-talk on your trade, Just a great deal on any Ford you pick out. That's why we're moving so many cars so quickly. Sure, you'll find our service really satisfies you. And our selection of new LTDs, Calaxies, Tonions, MaverickA, Mustangs, Fintos and wagons is great. Plus reconditioned Ford A-1 used cars you can count on. And save on. But, best of all, and what you're most interested in, is a great deal. You'll find it—fast—right here. So stop in soon.

SCOUTERS MEET IN MINNEAPOLIS. Mick Strange of Madison, camping chairman, Cahokia Mound Boy Scout Council, was among 3,000 adult scouting leaders attending the 63rd annual meeting of the Boy Scouts of America in Minneapolis, Minn., May 23-25. He is photo editor of the Press-Record. The BSA meeting is a convetion of adult volunteer and professional scout leaders from all 50 states and several foreign countries. They met to elect new national officers and review the organization's commitment to involve a representative cross-section of one of every three American youth in Scouting by 1976. Presently, BSA membership is nearly six million and reaches one of every four boys and young men.

No logical role for state in operating gambling enterprise lo logical role for state in operation of the comment by Press-Record bureau in Springsfield—Once again the liveau in Springsfield—Once again the liveau in Springsfield—Once again the government into the gambling business, and once again we call on the Senate to reject the idea.

We believe it is wrong for the state to encourage gambling by running a numbers game.

Supporters of the legislation compare this with state sanctian for horse racing and bingo playing, but there is a great difference and bingo are only regulated by the state and taxed by the state; the government does not encourage participation.

A lottery would be operated by the state as a pure moneymaking device. Only 45% of the receipts from sale of lottery tickets would go to the winners as prizes.

Only 42% or the second of the winners as prizes.

Ten per cent would go to pay the cost of the operation and the other 45% would go to the government as its take. The government's share would go into the state's school fund.

Proponents contend it's not the poor who buy lottery tickets in hopes of striking it rich, but we believe a disproportionate share of the tickets would be bought by those who can least afford it.

Pricing tickets at 50 cents each clearly encourages participation by those in the lower economic brackets.

But many congressional critics of the industry's response to the gasoline shortage do not argue with Ikard's main points:

main points:

1. Consumer demand for gasoline increased 6.3 per cent in 1973, the largest annual increases since 1985. More are as ear on the road and they are getting fewer miles to the gallon because of poliution-control devices, air conditioning and automatic transmissions.

2. Domestic refineries, op-

Dear Maria:
You are hardly at the famine stage. Successful dating, like everything else, takes a little practice. Give yourself a little time.

takes a little practice. Give yourself a little time. Dear Pat and Marilyn: I enjoy reading your column but am sick and tired of the young people who complained to follow. They should be thankful that their 'parents care enough to make the rules. My mother and father are divorced. My mother works eight hours a day and it works eight hours a day and it would be a more thankful than the property of the property o preciate what they have. Jim Dear Jim:

You said it better than I Could. I hope some of our parent complainers read your answer. An "easygoing" parent is not the answer to a teenager's dream. Parents need to have firm rules and enforce them with love.
Parents have been told that they must accept their children in order to be successful mean approval of everything the child does. The young person must learn what is permissible and desirable.

Dear Pat and Marilyn:
I've been marired six months and I've gained is pounds. Before marriage, I worked in an office and was very active. Since we've set-ted down to married life, in-stead of bowling, dancing or swimming, we spend our time looking at TV. Could this ac-count for my weight gar. Fatso

Dear Fatso:
Yes. Television has put more weight on people than any invention since the wheel.
All TV requires is staring and breathing. Skim off those excess calories and slim the body beautiful.
Calories do count! A

body beautiful.

Calories do count A
scrambled egg is 125 calories,
but if you boil this same egg,
you save 50 calories. A cup of coffee with two lumps of sugar and two Lablespoons of cream equals 110 calories. Se keep the sugar out of the coffee and the pounds off the laps.

Dear Unhappy: It would appear that your husband hasn't been in the house and you haven't been house and you haven't peeu-out.

If he refuses to cooperate, take a week's vacation and leave him with the THREE children. This should give him some valuable experience and you a vacation. You know the old saying — Action speaks louder than words. Try it.
